

the Architect

The Manhattan is an experienced drink that exudes confidence & intrigue, just like the Architect

GOVERNMENT WARNING:

- (1) According to the Surgeon General, women should not drink alcoholic beverages during pregnancy because of the risk of birth defects.
- (2) Consumption of alcoholic beverages impairs your ability to drive a car or operate machinery, and may cause health problems.

bookworms
curious & confident
decisive & ambitious

The Architect has an unquenchable thirst for knowledge & constant analysis. Imaginative yet decisive, they are extremely confident in their own skills, especially in the subjects that they have chosen to master. Innovation is pushed by the constant reconstruction of ideas. Their drive makes them bitter pessimists yet positive dreamers.

The Architect fails when they carry this confidence to a fault. Logic is not always the most important factor & they have a tendency to heavily look down upon those they deem intellectually inferior. Architects need help understanding how people tick, which can be possible with friends that force them look how people function socially as well as those who learn through different means.

the Logician

The Gin & Tonic is a precise cocktail that is analytical & intellectual, yet tells a unique story, just like the Logician

GOVERNMENT WARNING:

(1) According to the Surgeon General, women should not drink alcoholic beverages during pregnancy because of the risk of birth defects.

(2) Consumption of alcoholic beverages impairs your ability to drive a car or operate machinery, and may cause health problems.

uncommon
logically precise inventive & intellectual

The Logician is anything but ordinary. Their superior logical precision allows brilliant theories to sprout from these intellectual beings. Pride is taken in their creativity, inventiveness, & perception. People around them act as soundboards as their mind buzzes with ideas. There is no limit to the time & energy they will put into finding new solutions.

Though this logic is an undeniable gift, it can stand in the way of the Logician's relationships & amusement. Quick to be condescending, people are easily offended by their demeanor. Logicians need friends that can mellow them out without extinguishing their spark, as well as those that remind them that using logic is not always the best way to enjoy life.

the Commander

*ruthlessly rational
driven & determined
natural born leader*

The Commander embodies confidence & charisma, projecting authority in an enticing manner.
Acting as a true leader, they use
drive, determination, & their sharp minds to bring about success for themselves & those around them.
Many businesses & institutions are
a result of the Commander's grit, as they believe that they can achieve any goal with time.

This position can take a turn for the worst, however, when the Commander loses their temper.
Tunnel vision can lead to very harsh intolerance & coldness towards the people they are meant to advise.
Commanders need to take a step back & look to friends that encourage them to be patient with people, but still challenge their undeniable & cunning intellect.

the Logistician

The Vodka Soda is a no-nonsense cocktail that serves an important role with great responsibility, just like the Logistician

GOVERNMENT WARNING:

- (1) According to the Surgeon General, women should not drink alcoholic beverages during pregnancy because of the risk of birth defects.
- (2) Consumption of alcoholic beverages impairs your ability to drive a car or operate machinery, and may cause health problems.

*no-nonsense
dedicated to duty
practical & logical*

The Logistician takes pride in hard work, acting as the vital core of any organization they are a part of. Never making assumptions, they analyze their surroundings & check facts to arrive at a practical course of action. Meeting obligations is their priority & they will hold back no time or effort to achieve whatever goals they take on. A sense of personal integrity is ingrained in them.

The Logistician falls short when it comes to sensitivity. Their relentless work ethic frequently leaves them with little tolerance for feelings that may get in the way of their destination. Logisticians need to break away from their driven routine & see how people operate with friends that encourage them to act spontaneously, let loose, & realize that emotions serve a purpose.

the Defender

The Moscow Mule is a surprising cocktail subtle yet amazing qualities that may go unnoticed, just like the Defender

GOVERNMENT WARNING:

- (1) According to the Surgeon General, women should not drink alcoholic beverages during pregnancy because of the risk of birth defects.
- (2) Consumption of alcoholic beverages impairs your ability to drive a car or operate machinery, and may cause health problems.

*socially gifted
generous & sensitive
helpful & supportive*

The Defender is much more than they appear to be on the surface. Meeting kindness with kindness-in-excess, these true altruists are sensitive, yet have excellent analytical ability. Introversion may cause them to appear reserved, but in reality that have well-developed social skills & a knack for connecting with people. Their conservative nature is easily swayed by new ideas.

The Defender's biggest challenge is being able to accept credit for the amazing things that they do. Underplaying their accomplishments often results in selfish people taking advantage of their generosity. Defender's benefit greatly from friends that know how to boost their self-worth & highlight the potential that they have when they remain driven & confident.

the Executive

The Old Fashioned is an original cocktail that stands for tradition & class, just like the Executive

GOVERNMENT WARNING:

- (1) According to the Surgeon General, women should not drink alcoholic beverages during pregnancy because of the risk of birth defects.
- (2) Consumption of alcoholic beverages impairs your ability to drive a car or operate machinery, and may cause health problems.

presidential
leading by example
orderly & traditional

The Executive embraces values of honesty, dedication, & dignity. Valued for their clear advice & guidance, they use their understanding of what is right, wrong, & socially acceptable to bring people together. Never sitting on the sidelines, they take the roles of community organizers, acting in defense of tradition. Authority must be earned & laziness is unacceptable.

The Executive's active role & pride in tradition often causes them to cross the line between strong-willed & stubborn. Being inflexible & clinging so heavily to ways of the past may hinder their communities rather than help. Success comes to Executives with friends that force them to break from their rigid ways, see opposing viewpoints, & consider their people in the process.

- (2) Consumption of alcoholic beverages impairs your ability to drive a car or operate machinery, and may cause health problems.

socially savvy
supportive & outgoing

The Consul is a social creature, staying up to date with fashion, appearance, & the social status of people around them. Bringing people together is their specialty, organizing community gatherings & trying to make everyone happy. Friends & loved ones can always look to them for support as they take a genuine interest in the people around them, especially those they care about.

The Consul falters when their need to be accepted socially becomes overwhelming. Often acting in fear of being perceived as different, they are extremely hesitant to leave their comfort zone. Consuls blossom with friends that encourage them to push past the social sphere & look towards humanitarianism while using their talents in ways that think outside of the mainstream box.

The Mediator is a true idealist, always looking for good in the world around them. Guided by beauty, & virtue, Mediator communicate through metaphor & symbol, often becoming great literary scholars. Fantasy frequently captures their interest, mirroring the desire to understand their own place in our curious world.

The Mediator can easily become overwhelmed as the troubles of the world are too much for them to take on alone. Bringing them back to reality can be a great challenge when this diminishes their bright demeanor. Not everyone understands the Mediator to these depths, which is why their ideal friends share their love for beauty & philosophy, but guide them towards rationality.

WARNING:

- (1) According to the Surgeon General, women should not drink alcoholic beverages during pregnancy because of the risk of birth defects.
- (2) Consumption of alcoholic beverages impairs your ability to drive a car or operate machinery, and may cause health problems.

true artist
colorful & sensual
think outside the box

The Adventurer is a true creative, but not in the typical sense. Using aesthetics & design, they push the limits of social convention & upset traditional expectations. Living in a bright & colorful world, they are inspired by connections with people & ideas. They enjoy reinterpreting these connections while reinventing & experimenting with themselves & new perspectives.

The Adventurer's bright demeanor quickly changes as their fierce sense of independence causes unpredictability & stress. As their disorganization becomes more & more out of control, their self-esteem begins to fluctuate & they can shut down emotionally. Adventurers benefit from friends who can help them find structure & support without stifling their creative freedom.

The Entrepreneur always has an impact on their immediate surroundings. Leaping before they look, they often fix mistakes as they go. Drama, passion, & pleasure are enjoyable, but not emotional thrills as they are too stimulating for their logical minds. Diving into action, decisions are made based on immediate, factual reality.

The Entrepreneur is a risk when they become too defiant. Ignoring rules & social expectations may cause them to miss the bigger picture & put themselves in harm's way out of boredom. Entrepreneurs prosper when in the company of friends who focus their driven energy into productive societal roles & remind them to use sensitivity over spontaneity when dealing with others.

The Entertainer is most likely to spontaneously break into song & dance. All of the world is their stage. The excitement of the moment is always enticing & they want everyone to enjoy it as much as they do. Aesthetics are their strong suit, giving them a keen eye for design & fashion. Attractive qualities are always clear the moment they see them.

Entertainers have a tendency to get lost in what they find to be attractive, whether it be visual or exciting. Long-term planning becomes a problem when the short-term is much more exhilarating, which can make the beautiful life they desire impossible. Entertainers flourish with friends who force them to commit to their future & to their friends.
