

When in love it is easy to forget oneself, to sink into one another, you must love while also retaining the self.
Love as two parts of a dance,
as two branches of a tree.

